INTRODUCTION.

THIS Collection of Coins, formed by the late W. TALBOT READY, is representative of the British Series, from the earliest period to the present century, comprising choice specimens of Early British times, such as the Ring Money (lot 1), from the Marsham collection, uninscribed early gold (4), and inscribed staters of Addedomaros (10), Tasciovanus (12), and Vocorio (14). The silver coinage of this early period is well represented by the remarkable little piece in lot 18, and the unpublished and interesting coin, inscribed DVM (19).

The early Anglo-Saxon coinage is well illustrated by the sceattas in lots 22-28, containing some carefully selected examples. The Penny Series contains some exceedingly fine pieces: Coenwulf (33), the scarce type of Cuthred (37), and of East Anglia, pennies of Ethelwald and St. Edmund, with others of the Memorial issue, notably the rare halfpenny (51), from the Murchison, Shepherd and Montagu collections. Other notable pieces of this early period are the Alfwold styca (52); Siefred penny with mint name (68), the beautifully preserved penny of Alfred with bust (83), the curious Athelstan penny with retrograde legend (91), the Edgar penny of London (106), Edward the Martyr penny (109), and the long series of pennies of Ethelred II, Canute and Edward the Confessor, embracing specimens from nearly all the old mint towns, some of which are very difficult to obtain, among others, Ythancaster (124), Watchet (129) and Bridgnorth (132); we would also call attention to the Oxford penny of Hartha Canute (155), and the rare mule pieces of Edward the Confessor (184 and 185).

In the Post-Conquest Section we note the fine series of Paxs pennies (217-226), Henry I penny (235), the rare Stephen penny (251), and the penny of Henry of Anjou (252).

The most remarkable piece in the entire collection is the pattern double penny of Henry III.

The so-called pattern groats of Edward I, in lots 258-263, are the largest number of varieties of these rare pieces ever offered for sale in one collection. Among the other lots of Edward I-III, are some interesting pieces, including three of the rare nobles issued in 1346 (lots 282-3-4), and among the silver, three Roman M groats (339-40-41), and the much rarer half groat (342).

We would also mention the light noble of Henry IV (378), and the groat from an altered die of Richard II, a fine series of Henry V nobles, Henry VI noble of the rosette mascle coinage (423), and a quarter noble with rose leaf on reverse (434), the extremely rare half rose noble of Edward IV, minted at Coventry; sovereigns of Henry VII, Henry VIII, and Mary; Philip and Mary angel (582), Elizabeth ryals (594-595), James I EXVRGAT sovereign (619), and spur ryal (621), Charles I Oxford unites, and fine and interesting silver coins from the provincial mints, including a Scarborough two-shillings (723).

The later milled issues are well represented, there are also some fine Irish obsidional coins, Anglo-Gallic gold and silver, a small series of Scotch coins, and a fine selection of Seventeenth Century tokens.

The Collection of Commemorative Medals, Badges and Tickets, formed by the late Mr. Ready, will be offered for sale early in the new year.

 From the style of this piece it was probably struck about the year 1260, and was intended for a double penny. Its weight is 45·8 grs. Two uncirculated Henry III pennies of the same fabric from the Brussels hoard scale only a grain more. The coin has been mounted and bears traces of contemporary gilding, reminding one that many of the pattern groats of Edward I have been so treated. Ruding in his Supplement, Part II, plate II, no. 23, figures a similar coin reading ROBERT ONC ANT, but it cannot now be traced.

258 Edward I, 1272–1307, Groat, obv. + EDWARDVS : D'I : GRA' : REX : ANGL', king's crowned bust in a quatrefoil formed of double lines, the inner one dotted, the outer one plain, trefoil of three pellets under the bust, in each spandril trefoil ornament with pellet centre; rev. :DN'S hBIN EDVX AQVT', and in inner circle LONDONIA CIVI divided by large cross fleurée, very fine and an extremely rare variety [Pl. II] 1

259 Another, similar to last, reads hIBNE, with rosette under the bust, the tressure is formed by a heavy plain line between two dotted ones and colons are used for stops on both sides, in good state and very rare 1

260 Another, of similar type, with colons for stops, the drapery on shoulders is formed by a regular curve, and there is no ornament on bust, very fine and very rare 1

261 Another, similar, but with a rosette in centre of drapery, which resembles a ring round the king's neck, colon stops on obverse, : before DNS on reverse, very fine, only one other specimen of this variety believed to be known [Pl. II] 1

262 Another, of same type, with colon stops both sides, the trefoils in the spandrils are larger and formed of leaflets instead of incurved crescents; on the reverse there is a well defined trefoil at the end of each limb of the cross, the N of DNS is reverse barred and lacks the contraction mark, in ordinary good state, with traces of contemporary gilding 1

263 Others (2), (a) variety with three pellet stops and reading hBINE, in very good condition, but has had a brooch mount removed from
